

TRANSFUSION in TRAUMA: what trial do we do next?

The Transfusion in Trauma: what trial do we do next? workshop took place in Brisbane on October 24th, 2024. Held in conjunction with the Trauma 2024 conference convened by the Australian & New Zealand Trauma Society (ANZTS), the meeting brought together experts in trauma medicine, transfusion, and clinical trials. The morning sessions included talks about different blood products and perspectives on trauma care and clinical trials in the prehospital setting through to surgery, and ICU. Following a priority-setting survey, the afternoon was spent in fruitful discussion around development of a research roadmap.

